LDSS Response

The LDSS investigation revealed that the BF and MGM were not adequately supervising the SC at the time of the SC's death. The SC had been able to get out of the home unnoticed, and neither the BF nor MGM saw the SC for 20-30 minutes until they found the SC in the backyard pool. The LDSS determined the MGM and the MGF were aware that a pool gate was not working properly, the legally required pool alarm was broken or missing, and the gate was broken, leaving adequate room for a small child to gain access to the pool.

The LDSS met with the BM, BF, MGM, MGF and other family members. The LDSS also visited the SC's surviving 3 month old sibling. Grief counseling services were offered to the family, as well as follow up home visits to monitor the safety of the surviving sibling. The LDSS, through interviews, casework contacts and collateral contacts, was able to establish the safety of the surviving sibling. The LDSS addressed the safety concerns, and monitored the physical repair and installation of safety devices for the backyard pool. Safe Sleep practices were addressed with the BM and BF in regard to the three month old surviving sibling.

Additional information, if necessary:
 Parents were offered grief counseling by the LDSS CW, but the BM and BF enrolled in services on their own. It appeared that the BM continued with services and the BF did not. The grandparents repaired the gate and replaced the pool alarm.

Were services provided to parent(s) and other care givers to address any immediate needs related to the fatality? No

Explain:
 The BM and BF were offered grief counseling by the LDSS, but were both able to enter into this service on their own. The case shows BM to be more involved in services, and the BF not following through. The MGM and MGF were able to make necessary repairs to the pool's safety devices independently. Burial assistance was offered to the BM and BF, but they were able to take care of those expenses on their own.
